Intuitive, Intelligent and Diverse Training Solutions

“IETMs offer easy access to technical information and manuals reducing time spent in research thereby enhancing productivity.”

INTERACTIVE ELECTRONIC TECHNICAL MANUALS (IETMS)

D.P. Associates Inc. is an industry leader in the development and implementation of interactive electronic technical manuals (IETMs). IETMs offer easy access to technical information and manuals reducing time spent in research thereby enhancing productivity. The system gives technicians and mechanics online access to text, graphics, catalogues and databases that are essential to performance. Interactive graphics and simulations further augment the literature expanding the capability of the program. Just-in-time training (JITT) can be an added feature of this system embedding computer based training methodology which provides either initial or “refresher” training without disrupting work schedules.

X SERIES – SHADOW 200

The X Series was developed as a subcontractor to AAI Corporation for the Army. DPA was contracted to develop an IETM for the use in developmental testing (DT) and Operational Testing (OT). The content was developed using XML code and was then presented using standard browser technology. The X Series is for Class IV and above qualifications.
