Intuitive, Intelligent and Diverse Training Solutions

“Through the use of cutting edge techniques, DPA is able to bring realistic, lifelike movement to avatars...”

Meet Russ! Russ works as a training instructor for a government IT help desk. He provides an informative and entertaining training solution for customer service. These training products demonstrate real world situations and address the proper and improper ways of interacting with customer inquiries to maintain the highest level of customer satisfaction. Through the use of cutting edge techniques, DPA is able to bring realistic, lifelike movement to avatars like Russ, enabling them to interact and engage audiences in more personalized training experiences. Avatars become guides in the training process and, much like in video games, visually demonstrate actions and procedures in a virtual world. Recreating complex training scenarios with true-to-life movement and realism is the hallmark of our avatars. Fields such as Law Enforcement, aviation, medical, and many others benefit from the use of Avatars and immerse the trainee in a rich media environment. Contact DPA today for a demonstration of all our services and learn how you can have an Avatar like Russ working for you.
